SOME EXAMPLES OF CONGREGATIONAL CULTURE

HEALTHY

- gospel confidence people trust God to accomplish what he wants through his Word
- selflessness people prioritize the needs and wants of others above their own personal preferences
- willing to sacrifice people are willing to give of their resources to a degree that it affects their life-style
- assessment/evaluation there is a willingness to appraise ministry efforts to determine if they are meeting goals
- courageousness people are willing to engage in activities that might be scary/ uncomfortable for them, because they know it is vital to the mission
- compassion members genuinely care for one another
- enthusiasm people approach service with passion
- curiosity new ideas are welcomed; people look for the kernel of good in new ideas
- ownership members realize they have a role to play
- focus members know the church's mission and do not let minor things sidetrack that mission
- urgency there is an awareness that man's time of grace is limited; death or judgment day can be any moment
- hospitality both at church and in members' personal lives, there is a desire to welcome guests and build relationships
- joyfulness people demonstrate the bliss of knowing their eternity is secure; others are uplifted by that attitude
- mobilized laity members are viewed as doers of ministry, not just consumers of ministry

UNHEALTHY

- consumerism people want the church to cater to their personal preferences
- inward focus there is care for members, but little concern about the lost
- apathy there is no honest assessment; people just accept things as they are, rather than trying to improve ministry efforts
- resignation no one cares about ministry or whether the congregation is in decline; "whatever happens, happens"
- pastor as doer, not equipper there is no understanding of Ephesians 4:11-16
- captive to member decisions are made to appease a specific member(s) for some reason; that member enjoys that special influence
- institutionalism the preservation of an institution (e.g., church, school, ministry tactic) is viewed as the end, rather than the means to the end (which is Christ's mission and glory)
- prideful people talk about how their church is better than other churches
- self-righteous not wanting "those type of people" in the church
- love of status quo members do not distinguish between what must not change, what can change, and what must change
- traditionalism customs are retained simply because they are customs; there is no consideration of whether or not that custom still serves the gospel well
- politicization there is an implication that "true Christians" must take certain stances on civil policies
- low-expectations for discipleship one can be a member in good standing despite being persistently absent

The Need for Leaders to Shape Congregational Culture

A. The Pyramid of Congregational Health

Ephesians 2:20 "[The Church is]built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, with Christ Jesus himself as the chief cornerstone."
Romans 15:5 "May the God who gives endurance and encouragement give you the same attitude of mind toward each other that Christ Jesus had"
Exodus 18 Moses is trying to manage the nation of Israel directly, as sole judge over two-million people. Jethro tells Moses, "What you are doing is not good The work is too heavy for you; you cannot handle it alone" (17,18) They end up dividing Israel into groups of "thousands, hundreds, fifties, and tens The difficult cases they brought to Moses" (v25,26).

untreated, it will eventually result in the congregation's death .	1. Know the Journey
Revelation 3:14-19 14 "To the angel of the church in Laodicea write: These are the words of the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the ruler of God's creation. ¹⁵ I know your deeds, that you are neither cold nor hot. I wish you were either one or the other! ¹⁶ So, because you are lukewarm—neither hot nor cold—I am about to spit you out of my mouth. ¹⁷ You say, I am rich; I have	• Have clear KEEPS and clear FROM / TOs acquired wealth and do not need a thing.' But you do not realize that you are wretched, pitiful, poor, blind and naked. ¹⁸ I counsel you to buy from me gold refined in the fire, so you can become rich; and white clothes to wear, so you can cover your shameful nakedness; and salve to put on your eyes, so you can see. ¹⁹ Those whom I love I rebuke and discipline.
